VOLUME 1:
The Challenge of Becoming a People

MOSES PONDERERS BIG QUESTIONS

"What Shall I Do with These People?" Leader Asks

By Stephen Sheinkin

MOUNT SINAI — Seven weeks after their extraordinary escape from Egyptian bondage, the thrill of freedom still shines on the faces of the Israelites here at Mount Sinai. In recent days, however, the weight of exhaustion and fear has taken its toll on the former slaves. And though they have left slavery behind, there is only uncertainty about what lies ahead.

Hunger and thirst continue to be of great concern in this sun-scorched wilderness, but now Moses is faced with far greater questions: Where is this group headed? How long will it take to get there? What should they do when they arrive? And perhaps the most important question of all: How will Moses help more than one million frustrated and restless men, women, and children become one people? For now, there are no answers.

Moses contemplates his next move.
